STRONGER TOGETHER

After the longer-than-anticipated wait for the Olympic and Paralympic Games Tokyo 2020, they are now only a few months away. We have all faced challenges in our preparations – challenges that we are working through together as we develop plans for a safe and successful event this summer. We look forward to the moment when the power of sport and of the Games will unite everyone, and athletes will inspire the world once again. Stronger than ever, stronger together.

To get there, we each have our part to play. As co-Chairs of the NOC and Athletes Working Group for the Coordination Commission, it has meant that NOCs and athletes have been able to not only receive the latest information but also kept the athlete voice at the centre of the discussions and decisions. The health and safety of everyone at the Games is our top priority.

For 125 years, the Olympic Games have been a beacon of hope, a symbol of human solidarity. Now, more than ever, the actions we take in our daily lives can have a significant effect on the health of others. That is why this Playbook has been created – to outline the rules that will allow each and every one of us to contribute to safe and successful Games.

In the spirit of our balance of ‘Rights and Responsibilities’, we think NOC and NPC delegations and athletes have the right to have everything done to provide a safe environment at the Olympic Games and Paralympic Games, and equally have a responsibility to our hosts in Japan and all Games participants to respect not only the formal rules but also the necessary behaviours. This Playbook has been developed to ensure it best supports your role and needs. If you have been to the Games before, we know this experience will be different in a number of ways. For all Games participants, there will be some conditions and constraints that will require your flexibility and understanding.

No doubt you will have questions. This first version of the Playbook aims to provide the main principles that will guide us all as we continue to build more detailed plans – and the context that we will face becomes clearer. An update will be published by April and may change as we get closer to the Games. We will make sure you have all the information you need, as quickly as possible.

We are #StrongerTogether. The values we share – Excellence, Friendship and Respect – will lead us to a safe and successful Games. We firmly believe that if every single one of us commits to following the Playbook, we will come together in the summer for an extraordinary Games that will stand out in memory for all the right reasons. Our gathering is a symbol of hope for humanity. Our gathering requires the best within us.

Thank you and see you at the Games.

Kirsty Coventry,

Chair of the IOC Athletes’ Commission and Member of the Coordination Commission for the Games of the XXXII Olympiad Tokyo 2020

Robin Mitchell,

Acting President of the Association of National Olympic Committees and Member of the Coordination Commission for the Games of the XXXII

PRINCIPLES

MINIMISE PHYSICAL INTERACTION

COVID-19 is transmitted through infected droplets in our breath exhaled by coughing, sneezing, talking, shouting or singing – and is passed from person to person when we are in close contact. The risks of catching COVID-19 grow in crowded poorly-aired spaces and when we spend time in proximity to those carrying COVID-19. That is why it is important to minimise social interaction, wear a mask, and avoid the 3Cs: spaces that are closed, crowded or involve close contact.

Keep physical interactions with others to a minimum

Avoid physical contact, including hugs and handshakes

#3

Keep two metres' distance from athletes and at least one metre from others, including in operational spaces

#4

Avoid enclosed spaces and crowds where possible

#5

Use Games transport systems according to your own specific Playbook. Do not use public transport unless given permission

Complete and follow what you describe in your activity plan

TEST, TRACE & ISOLATE

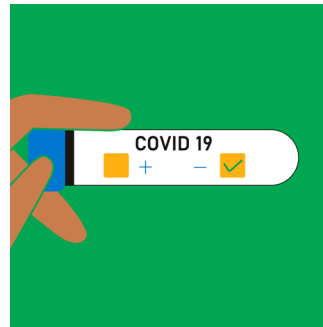

To stop the spread of COVID-19, it is vital to break the chain of human-to-human transmission. That is why it is important to identify who has the COVID-19 virus, through testing; understand who the disease might have been passed to, through contact tracing; and to use isolation and quarantining to stop the virus from spreading further.

Download Japan's COCOA and health reporting smartphone applications (apps)

Get tested and provide proof of a negative result before you depart for the Games. You may be tested again when you arrive (depending on where you arrive from)

#3

Follow the additional restrictions that apply to your first 14 days in Japan, detailed in your own specific Playbook

#4

If required for your role, have regular screening tests for COVID-19 during the Games

#5

Get a test and isolate if you experience any symptoms or are told to by tracing services

THINK HYGIENE

COVID-19 can live on everyday surfaces through droplets exhaled by an infected person. If we touch those objects with our hands and then touch our eyes, nose or mouth we run the risk of becoming infected. That is why we must not forget the basics of good hygiene — regularly and thoroughly cleaning our hands, disinfecting surfaces, avoiding touching our face, and covering our mouths when we sneeze or cough.

Wash your hands regularly and use hand sanitisers where available

Wear a face mask at all times, unless outside and two metres away from others

#3

Cough into your mask, sleeve or tissue

#4

Support athletes by clapping and not singing or chanting

#5

Avoid using shared items where possible, or disinfect them

Ventilate rooms and common spaces every 30 minutes

YOUR JOURNEY

INTRODUCTION

The Playbooks are the basis of our game plan to ensure all Olympic and Paralympic Games participants and the people of Japan stay safe and healthy this summer. They have been developed jointly by Tokyo 2020, the International Olympic Committee (IOC) and the International Paralympic Committee (IPC). They are based on the extensive work of the All Partners Task Force, which also includes the World Health Organization, Government of Japan, Tokyo Metropolitan Government, independent experts and organisations from across the world.

This Playbook sets out the responsibilities of athletes and team officials, and should be considered alongside wider information received from your National Olympic Committee (NOC)/National Paralympic Committee (NPC). The rules apply in the same way to every athlete and official, regardless of your sport or where you are living – just as they apply to all other Games participants.

Please take time to understand the plans, the steps you must take and the rules you must follow – starting 14 days before you travel and throughout the length of your stay in Japan. It's crucial that you take personal responsibility for your part in the plan. As athletes and team officials, you will set the standard.

If you are already living in Japan, please consider how this information applies to you as you prepare for the Games.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION:

Every NOC/NPC will be asked to appoint a COVID-19 Liaison Officer. This person will be your key contact for all matters related to COVID-19. They will also be the contact for the IOC/IPC, Tokyo 2020 and the Japanese health authorities. Your COVID-19 Liaison Officer will be responsible for ensuring you understand and follow this Playbook, and they will receive their own detailed guidelines related to their role.

This Playbook will be updated as required to ensure it reflects the latest developments. The next version will be published by April 2021.

PLEASE NOTE:

This Playbook is written under the current understanding of the IOC, IPC and Tokyo 2020. Further changes may need to be made to certain countermeasures in the future, in collaboration with the Government of Japan and TMG, to ensure the evolutions of conditions and regulations in Japan can be fully taken into account. This could mean that future versions of the Playbook could include more restrictions than those currently listed.

We trust that the measures laid out will mitigate any risks and impacts involved in participating in the Games, and we fully count on your support to comply with them. However, despite all care taken, risks and impacts may not be fully eliminated, and therefore you agree to attend the Olympic and Paralympic Games at your own risk.

ENTERING JAPAN

When you arrive, you must observe the following protocols at the airport and for your onward journey.

Physical distancing and good hygiene measures must be followed throughout your time in Japan. Additional rules also apply for the first 14 days of your visit.

Physical distancing and good hygiene measures must be followed throughout your time in Japan, to help keep everyone safe and healthy. Additional rules also apply for the first 14 days of your stay.

You are responsible for proactively monitoring and reporting your personal health every day via the health reporting app.

Testing will be a crucial part of minimising transmission: used for general screening and for those identified as a close contact of a positive case; as well as used for diagnosis for those experiencing symptoms of COVID-19.

- Prepare to have your temperature checked every time you enter a Games venue
 - If you record a temperature of 37.5 degrees Celsius or higher, it will be checked a second time for confirmation
 - If you again record a temperature of 37.5 degrees Celsius or higher, you will not be permitted to enter the venue. Notify your COVID-19 Liaison Officer and follow their instructions. You will be taken to an isolation area to wait for further measures

*More details on temperature checks at venues will be available when confirmed, no later than the April 2021 update of this Playbook

- If you experience any symptoms of COVID-19 during your stay, immediately contact your COVID-19 Liaison Officer, who will explain the next steps. See WHO guidance on symptoms
 - If you are at a Games venue, you will be taken to the venue medical station for a health check-up
 - If you are considered likely to be suffering from COVID-19, you will be transported to the Fever Outpatient Clinic in the Olympic and Paralympic Village (or another designated medical facility) to receive a COVID-19 test
 - You must wait in the Fever Outpatient Clinic until you get the result of your test

SOCIAL

- Limit your contact with other people as much as possible
- Keep a distance of two metres from others
 - There may be times when the distance between you and others is less than two metres, for example on the Field of Play (FOP) and in preparation areas. Tokyo 2020, IOC/IPC and the IFs will develop and implement the necessary countermeasures*
- Keep your close contact list up to date

SOCIAL

- Eat meals keeping two metres or suggested distances away from others and with the same group, to keep contacts to a minimum
 - Avoid enclosed spaces and crowds wherever possible
 - Avoid staying an unnecessarily long time in a space where physical distance cannot be maintained. Refrain from talking in crowded areas such as elevators
 - Avoid unnecessary forms of physical contact such as hugs, high-fives and handshakes

 - If you use a wheelchair or other mobility device that may be handled by another person under certain circumstances (for example drivers), regularly disinfect the relevant surfaces with sanitising wipes
 - Hand washing and sanitising right before meals are important, and assistance should be provided where required

FURTHER INFORMATION

VACCINES

Vaccines are one of many tools available in the toolbox, to be used at the appropriate time and in the appropriate way. The IOC continues to strongly support the priority of vaccinating vulnerable groups, nurses, medical doctors and everyone who is keeping our societies safe.

When vaccinations are made available to a broader public, the IOC calls for Olympic and Paralympic teams to be vaccinated – given their role as ambassadors of their NOCs and NPCs given the role of sport “to promote safe sport as a contributor to the health and wellbeing of individuals and communities”, as recently stated in a UN resolution, which was adopted by consensus in the UN General Assembly. This resolution also highlighted the importance of the Olympic and Paralympic Games.

Therefore, the IOC will work with the NOCs to encourage and assist their athletes, officials and stakeholders to get vaccinated in their home countries, in line with national immunisation guidelines, before they go to Japan. This is to contribute to the safe environment of the Games, but also out of respect for the Japanese people, who should be confident that everything is being done to protect not only the participants, but also the Japanese people themselves.

During consultation calls with the NOCs, the IOC was informed that a number of national governments have already taken positive decisions in this respect or are in consultation with their NOCs.

In order to get a full picture about the vaccination situation for the 206 NOCs, the IOC has sent a letter to the NOCs asking them to actively engage with their respective governments on this matter and to report back to the IOC in early February 2021. The NOCs are encouraged to do so in association with their respective NPCs.

PLEASE NOTE:

You will not be required to have received a vaccine in order to participate in the Games – and all of the rules outlined in this Playbook will apply, whether or not you have received the vaccine.

COMPLIANCE AND SANCTIONS

Despite all care taken, we draw to your attention that risks and impacts may not be fully eliminated and that you agree to attend the Olympic and Paralympic Games at your own risk. We trust that these measures are proportionate to mitigate the above-mentioned risks and impacts and we fully count on your support to comply with them.

As part of the accreditation process for the Olympic and Paralympic Games, your organisation will bring some information relating to these measures to your attention, in particular that compliance with the rules of the Playbook is a condition to be granted with and maintain your accreditation, and that, in some cases, these measures may also involve the processing of your personal information, including health-related information.

In light of the above, we ask you to ensure that you have read carefully and understood the content of this Playbook (including any further updates thereto) and abide by the rules contained therein, as well as with any further instructions that may be issued by the Japanese authorities, us or your organisation. Your compliance with such rules and instructions is key to successfully achieve our common objective to ensure that the health of all the participants to the Olympic and Paralympic Games is protected and that the Games are safely staged.

Non-respect of the rules contained in this Playbook may expose you to consequences that may have an impact on your participation to the Olympic and Paralympic Games, your access to Games venues and, in some cases, on your participation to competitions. Repeated or serious failures to comply with these rules may result in the withdrawal of your accreditation and right to participate in the Olympic and Paralympic Games.

Please be aware that some of the measures described in the Playbook are related to the entry into and departure from Japan, which are under the jurisdiction of the Japanese authorities. In the event of a breach of these measures, there may be consequences imposed upon you, such as being subject to quarantine for 14 days, or to procedures for revocation of your permit of stay in Japan.
